

A Stafford without Spirit is like an Angel without Wings!

BE INFORMED:

The Club wish to highlight that not all breeders are equal. This might become as a surprise to you but breeders basically fall into 2 categories:

- Breeders who breed to uplift and improve a breed and
- Breeders who make a living off selling dogs.

It's the second kind of breeder you need to be careful of. These people will try and influence you that they have the 'best' dogs, that they 'do the best in the show ring' and some of them even serve on Stafford Club committees. They are expert lairs and you will not easily know the difference between one that's honest and one that might take your for a ride.

The Western Cape SBT Club's advise to you is to research the breeder and the 'show scene' before you spend any money. Don't believe EVERYTHING you hear. Talk to as many people as possible. There are several breeders of Staffordshire Bull Terriers. This is a 15 year commitment you are making - you need not rush into it, so don't feel you must make a rushed decision. A respectable breeder wants the best for the dogs they breed and want the 'right family' for them, in fact some of them can be quite hard to impress.

No matter what advice you get - the final commitment is yours. Make it an informed one!
